Epworth Leaguers of Wheeling District in Convention

AT CHAPLINE STREET CHURCH,

The Seventh Annual Gathering a Great Success-Large Attendance of Delegates From all Parts of the District-The Promedings Began Yesterday Afternoon, and will Close To-night-Interesting Session Last Night.

The seventh annual convention of the Epworth League, Wheeling district, opened yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at Chapline street M. E. church, with the largest and most enthusiastic attendance in the history of similar gath-tendance in the history of similar gainerings.

About every chapter of the League in the district has sent delegates, and along with the delegates have come many persons interested in this great young peoples' ally of the Methodist Episcopal church. The good people of Chapline street have opened their doors
to the visitors, and will care for them during the convention. Though their church is not sumicently large to accommodate the great crowds, the hospitality of Chapline street congregation is plenty large enough, and then some
to spare.

The church has been very prettily decorated. Appropriate motios and emblems of the League adon the walls.
Streamers of red and white add a touch of brightness, further embellishing the tasteful distribution of flowers and potted plants. Tempting meals are served in the church basement by the Chapline street League, who are leavting nothing undone to make the occasion enjoyable.

The convention met in the afternoon,

The first item of business was the reports of officers. Many of the reports were verbal, and not all responded. After the appointment of various committees, Mr. S. E. Brewster, of Zane street chapter, delivered a splendid address from the topic. "The Utility of the District Convention." Mr. Brewster had lucid and strong arguments, showing the savantages gained from these meetings.

Miss Alice King, of Sherrard chapter, had a good paper on her tople, "Why a Denominational Society for Young People." Her remarks were to the point, terse and full of good things.

The acrowd that poured into the church at night soon packed the edifice. Although an overflow meeting was held in the basement, many were forced to stand, and they did so willingly, for the exercises were very interesting.

The evening's programme was a pleasing blending of musical and literary numbers with brief practical talks. It was after 8 o'clock when the proceedings were opened with the hymn, "All Hall the Power of Jesus Name"

Rev. Mr. King, of McMechen, made a very carnest prayer, invoking God's blessings upon the convention, and the Epworth League.

Prestdent A. Moore responded to the welcome extended by Rev. Mr. Anderson in behalf of the concregation of Chapline street. He felt sure that all those present felt a deep debt of gratitude to Chapline street, for its kind words and hospitable treatment. Dr.
Moore took occasion to tell of the good accomplished by the Epworth League, terming the latter ornanization, "the most promising child of Methodist,
and "the right arm of the Methodist, church." He trusted their deliberations would advance the cause of Christ.
Miss Hattle Martin, of the Benwood chapter, recited a pleasing selection in a happy manner, eliciting liberal applause.
The Ariel Mandella Club had a pretix

The Ariei Mandolin Club had a pretty selection, "The Ginost Pairol," and rendered it splendidly.
The next number on the programme was very enjoyable. A quartette from Thomson chapter, Misses Stella Chapman, Estella Maguire. Minnis Wincher and Jeanette Burt saug "Estudiantina" excellently, and were the recipients of merited applease.

After another selection by the mandolin club, Rev. C. E. Clark, of Thomson, made an address on "The Epworth League." He spoke of how great achievements of men have very seldom brought honor or fame to the authors
of those achievements while living:
that the honors came to them after death. This was because the world is so slow to move. Hence the success of the Epworth League in the few years
of its existence is almost a miracle.

Spenking of the success attained by Eithu Burritt, in learning eighteen languages and twenty-two dilacts, and similar experiences of other men, Mr.
Clark said that the source of these men's success was that they always had some underlying principle, prompting and urging them to the goal of their ambittons. In the motto of the League:
"Look Up! Lift Up!" is found the underlying principle of the Epworth League.

Practice Self-Sacrifice.

Hearty hand-clapping greeted Rev. D. A. Denton as he walked up the aisle to speak. The greeting was reciprocal, for Mr. Denton is a former pastor of Chapline street church, and he expressed his pleasure in being present. His cemarks were replete with many practical suggestions to advance the League's work, and he illustrated many of his soints by happy hits. At the conclusion of the evening's session, Mr. Denton held an informal reception at the pulpit railing, and his many friends took advantage of it to greet a man, whom to know is to esteem.

The congregation sang "Onward Christian Soiliers," after which they were diamissed with the benediction by Rev. Mr. Anderson.

A RIVER EXCURSION

To Charlesion to be Run by the Wheeling Physicians, who will Attend the Meeting of Their State Society.

The physicians of Wheeling, members of the Ohio county medical society and of the state society, have made partial arrangements for the chartering of the packet W. J. Cummings, and expect to take a party of about seventy-five from this city to Charleston, down the Ohio and up the Great Kanawha, next week, on the occasion of the annual meeting of the state medical society.

cal society.

Capt. Mack. Gamble owner of the Cummings, which is soon to be placed in a local trade after having been restitted and given a complete overhauling on the Marietta docks, has made a rate of $12 for the round trip, very reasonable. It is proposed to leave Wheeling on Tuesday at noon, and the trip to Charleston will be made in about twenty-four hours. From Point Pleasant, at the mouth of the Kanawha, to Charleston the ride will be in daylight, and as the river furnishes a panorama of beautiful scenery, this portion of the trip will be highly enjoyable.

As will be seen in another column, this excursion is open to friends of the local society, and persons desiring to go should communicate with the committee as early as possible, as a definite answer must be given to Captain Gamble within a day or two.

Persons taking the trip who are not mittee as can, as possed, as we assure must be given to Captain Gamble within a day or two.

Persons taking the trin who are not interested in the medical society's meetip, will find many picturesque attractions in the neighborhood of Charleston to occupy them while the medicos are wrangling among themselves. Kanawha Falls is one of the innest bits of rugged scenery in the state—and that is saying a good deal, Hawk's Nest and other resorts are in convenient reach, too.

It is an exceptional opportunity to make a river trip in the month of months—when Nature is in her finest mood.

THE RAILROADS.

The semi-annual inspection trip of the receivers of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad began yesterday morning at o'clock, when the special train left Balti-more for the west. The party includes Receivers John K. Cowen and Oscar G Murray, General Freight Agent Galleher Chief Engineer W. T. Manning, General Superintendent Thomas Fitzgerald, Assistant General Superintendent William Gibson, Superintendent of Transportation D. F. Maroney and the division officers, both in the operating and maintenance of way departments. Monday was spent on the line between Baltimore and Cumberland and to-day the party will make an inspection between Cumberland and Pittsburgh, taking in one or two tributary lines, including the Wheeling division. Cleveland, Columbus, Newark, Chicago, Sandusky, Cincinnati, Louisville, St. Louis, Springfield, Illinois and all other cities, both on the Baltimore & Ohio and Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern will be visited. Chief Engineer W. T. Manning, General will be visited.

The receivers state that the object of the inspection trip at this time is to assect ain the exact condition of the many improvements that are nearing completion and to come into direct contact with the operating officials of the libe with the view of still further reducing the cost of operation. A curtailment of expenses will be made wherever possible without lessening in any degree the standard of service.

"A Contented Woman."

Charles H. Hoyt, the author of "A attraction at the Opera House Tuesday May II, to-night, with Caroline Miskel Hoyt and its heroine and the original cast seen in it at Hoyt's theatre in New York City supporting her, is a singular compound of farcern and satists. All of his plays are intended to "hit off" some fact. In the close of "A Contented Woman" his aim is the Woman's Suffrage question, and he has treated it certainly very humorously. It will be given at the Opera House just as it was in New York. On the road it has proved to be one of the most popular plays of the year. attraction at the Opera House Tuesday

Delightful Concert by the Opera House Orchestra

AT THE WHEELING PARK CASINO

Drew a Large Audience Last Night-The Orchestra was Augmented by Pittsburgh Inlent and Assisted by Capable Vocal-Their Best, and the Evening Bill was Much Enjoyed, as it Deserved.

Perhaps never in the history of the Wheling Park, did its entrance to the Casino present as enchanting a scene as last evening-it was like a picture from the Arabian Nights. The Opera House Orchestra, Mrs. Flora Williams and Mr. Henry Hughes are attractions, and when put in the Casino, it was readily expected. If weather favored, that not only the people of Wheeling but all along the route of the Elm Grove railroad would follow them there, and make up an audience not easily exceeded in numbers.

Grove railroad would state and make up an audience not easily exceeded in numbers.

The close of the sixteenth year of the Wheeling Opera House Orchestra was celebrated with a concert which adds artistic lustre, and Prof. Spell and each member of the organization is to be congratulated. The programme was a little too long, but wishing to cater to all "tastes" is presumably the excusa. All the concerted work was good, the latter part of the programme, especially. "Zenuramide" (Rossini) and Schubert's Unfinished Symphony in B minor, were gems. The "Donce Carrese" for string instruments, also deserves commendation. The only instrumental solo was on the flute, beautifully played by Mr. Grimm and sustaining for him the favorable impression made with this same number at the Altenheim benefit concert some time ago.

Of the vocalists, Mr. George A. Hellen, tenor, was a stranger to a Wheelng audience, and, unfortunately had

The New York Produce Exchange's Case Against the Railroads.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 10.—The nter-State Commerce Commission to-Inter-State Commerce Commission to-day, in the United States circuit court rooms here, resumed its hearing on the subject of differential freight rates. A preliminary hearing was given in New York in March last, and a postponement was taken, with the agreement that the commission continue the hearing in this city to-day. The case at is, sue is that of the produce exchange of New York against thirty-four railroad companies for maintaining, in alleged violation of the inter-state commerce act, a system of freight differentials in grain, flour and provisions from the west to Philadelphia, Baltimore, New-port News and Norfolk, which the New York Produce Exchange alleges has operated to the disadvantage of the commerce of New York. "Anybody ud know it ud be cold in Canada,' growled the oldest inhabitant, evidently fearing his ability as a yarn spinner was in jeopardy.
"Well, that's what I'm going to speak about," resumed the knight of the grip, "if you'll but listen. I was in company with a young medical student, and we intended to make a record as moose hunters. We pushed our way up into the moose country, making good time, and the night we reached the promised land it was what we considered cold, without exaggerating. As you are doubtiess aware, gentlemen, there are lodges, rough huts, scattered at intervals throughout that territory, and we took refuge in one for the night. It was a small square room, with four fireplaces, one in the centre of each wall, and the four fires we soon had roaring gave the interior the appearance of a glowing furnace. But as I intimated, the night was cold.
"We rolled ourselves in our blankets and lay down with fires at our heads and feet and to either side of us. You know how you sleep after a winter tramp when you set near a fire, said the drummer, glancing around the company, "Well, we slept just that way, sound as a dollar. In the middle of the night my partner shook me by the shoulder until I awoke, When I got my cyes thoroughly opened I thought he wanted to work me for putting of rish logs, but the fires we reburning brightly. He awoke me though to show me of the misfortune that had befallen him. His face was like ice. Astonished? Well, I reckon, I jumped up and he started to follow. But a greater surprise was in store, for just then my friend made the painful discovery that his feet were frozen stiff. Think of it, and w

There was silence thick and deep for several minutes. The bell boy's eyes were glued to the drummer like two peeled onlons to a young girl's breath. The oldest inhabitant is a hard man to down. Seeing the drummer start for the lobby doer he sneeringly asked: "How was it your feet and face didn't freeze, too?" The drummer was hard of hearing and he siammed the door.
